

Y3/4 English Homework 1

Remember to read your reading book and write in your diary at least 5 times and practise your spellings before your spelling test on Friday.

This week we have been writing some fantastic Newspaper articles all about the eruption of Mount Vesuvius which destroyed the city of Pompeii. We have been practising checking our work for spelling and punctuation errors. Read the passage below and see if you can spot and circle all 10 spelling errors. Then write the correct spellings in the table at the bottom.

Last night, th people of Pompeii wer shocked when a natural disaster hit their city. Wen Mount Vesuvius suddenly erupted, it covered the whole city in millions off tonnes of volcanic ash and debris and killed approximately two thousand people!

Pompeii had boasted a large population and was a popular place to live due to the warm climate and rich volcanic soil, wich created a good environment for growing crops. Now, this has all been destroyed! Late yesterday afternoon, there where several warning signs. A cloud of black smoke was noticed comeing from the volcano, but the residents did not think the whole city wud soon be lying in ruins. The residents were surprised because Vesuvius had laid dormant for almost a century with no uther recent eruptions.

1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10

Y3/4 English Homework 2

Remember to read your reading book and write in your diary at least 5 times and practise your spellings before your spelling test on Friday.

This week we have been writing some fantastic Newspaper articles all about the eruption of Mount Vesuvius which destroyed the city of Pompeii. We have been practising checking our work for spelling and punctuation errors. Read the passage below and see if you can spot and circle all 10 spelling errors. Then write the correct spellings in the table at the bottom.

Last nite, the people of Pompeii were shocked when a natural disaster hit their city. Wen Mount Vesuvius suddenly erupted, it covered the whole city in millions off tonnes of volcanic ash and debris and killed approximately two thousand people!

Pompeii had boasted a large population and was a popular place to live due to the warm climate and rich volcanic soil, wich created a good environment for growing crops. Now, this has all been destroyed! Late yestaday afternoon, there where several warning signs. A cloud of black smoke was noticed comeing from the volcano, but the residents did not think the whole city wud soon be lying in ruins. The residents were surprised becace Vesuvius had laid dormant for almost a century with no other recent eruptions.

1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10